The firm's broad range of services and practice areas is focused on addressing the principal challenges faced by the management, boards of directors, shareholders, and in-house counsel of our clients. Our 600 attorneys provide a full array of legal services to approximately 300 public and 3,000 private clients, ranging from entrepreneurial start-ups to multibillion-dollar global corporations. Our clients include well-known industry leaders such as Genentech, Google, Kodak, Mylan, Semiconductor Manufacturing International Corp., and Williams-Sonoma, as well as financial institutions such as Bank of America Merrill Lynch, Goldman Sachs, and Morgan Stanley, and venture capital firms such as Lightspeed, NEA, and Sequoia Capital.

The firm is nationally recognized as a leader in the fields of corporate finance, mergers and acquisitions, venture capital and private equity, intellectual property, antitrust, securities class action litigation, and employment law, among many other areas of law. Our distinguished international roster of clients are leaders in a wide variety of industries, including information technology, life sciences, energy and clean technology, media and entertainment, communications, retail, and financial services.

Our unparalleled understanding of clients' industries and business objectives, taken in conjunction with our extensive network, allows us to act as a valuable strategic business partner to our clients while offering insightful business counseling that goes far beyond the typical legal representation. Additionally, our unique model of providing full-service legal representation to clients throughout all stages of growth results in the provision of informed, innovative, responsive, and cost-effective legal services that take both our clients' short- and long-term goals into consideration.

With long-standing roots in Silicon Valley and offices in seven technology and business hubs throughout the United States and two in China, Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati has a national presence with a global reach. Over the past four decades, we have developed a wide-ranging international practice. Our global experience includes the representation of U.S.-based companies doing business abroad, as well as non-U.S. companies conducting business in the United States, and we have represented both U.S. and international clients in such matters as global offerings, cross-border mergers and acquisitions, litigation, joint ventures, technology transactions, venture capital investment, project development and finance, intellectual property counseling, and U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) reporting obligations.

Our attorneys have deep relationships in the regulatory, financial, and other key communities critical to the success of business enterprises, and we regularly are called upon to help shape new laws and regulations. For instance, several of our attorneys have served as advisors to major regulatory bodies in the areas of governance and disclosure, including leadership roles with leading global exchanges (e.g., serving as co-chair of the NASDAQ Listing and Hearing Review Council and chair of the NYSE Commission on Corporate Governance) and advisory roles with global authorities on securities and other regulation (e.g., SEC Advisory Committee on Smaller Public Companies, International Advisory Board of the Israel Securities Authority, and Advisory Board of the Securities Regulation Institute).

Among other recognition the firm has received, Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati is perennially selected by public-company directors as one of "America's Best Corporate Law Firms," according to research conducted by Corporate Board Member and FTI Consulting, and consistently is ranked No. 1 by Dow Jones Private Equity Analyst for the number of private equity and venture capital deals handled each year. According to Bloomberg, over the last 10 years, the firm has advised more companies on their initial public offerings and more technology companies on mergers and acquisitions than any other law firm. We also are named among the top firms in the U.S. by number of patent litigation cases handled, ranked as the most frequently hired securities litigation firm in the U.S., and recognized among the world's leading antitrust practices.
